

Description:

Fee Schedule search as it is currently on Provider Portal.

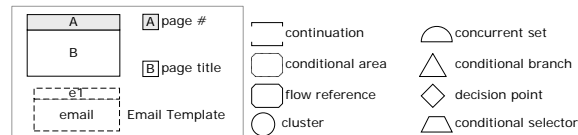

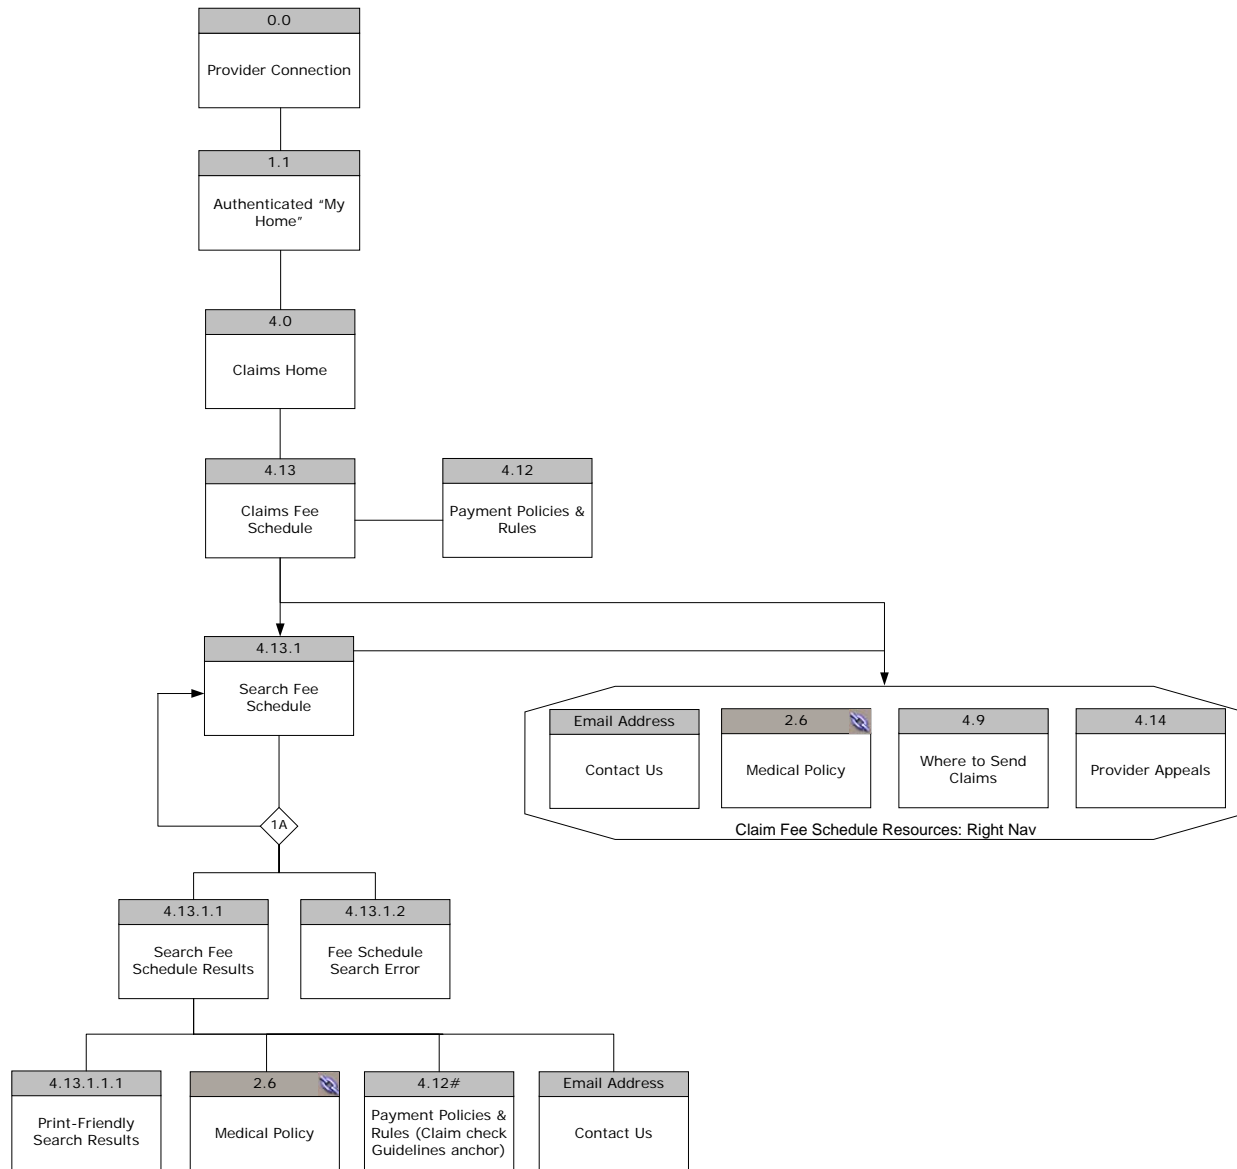

Specifications:

1A: Validate Search Criteria

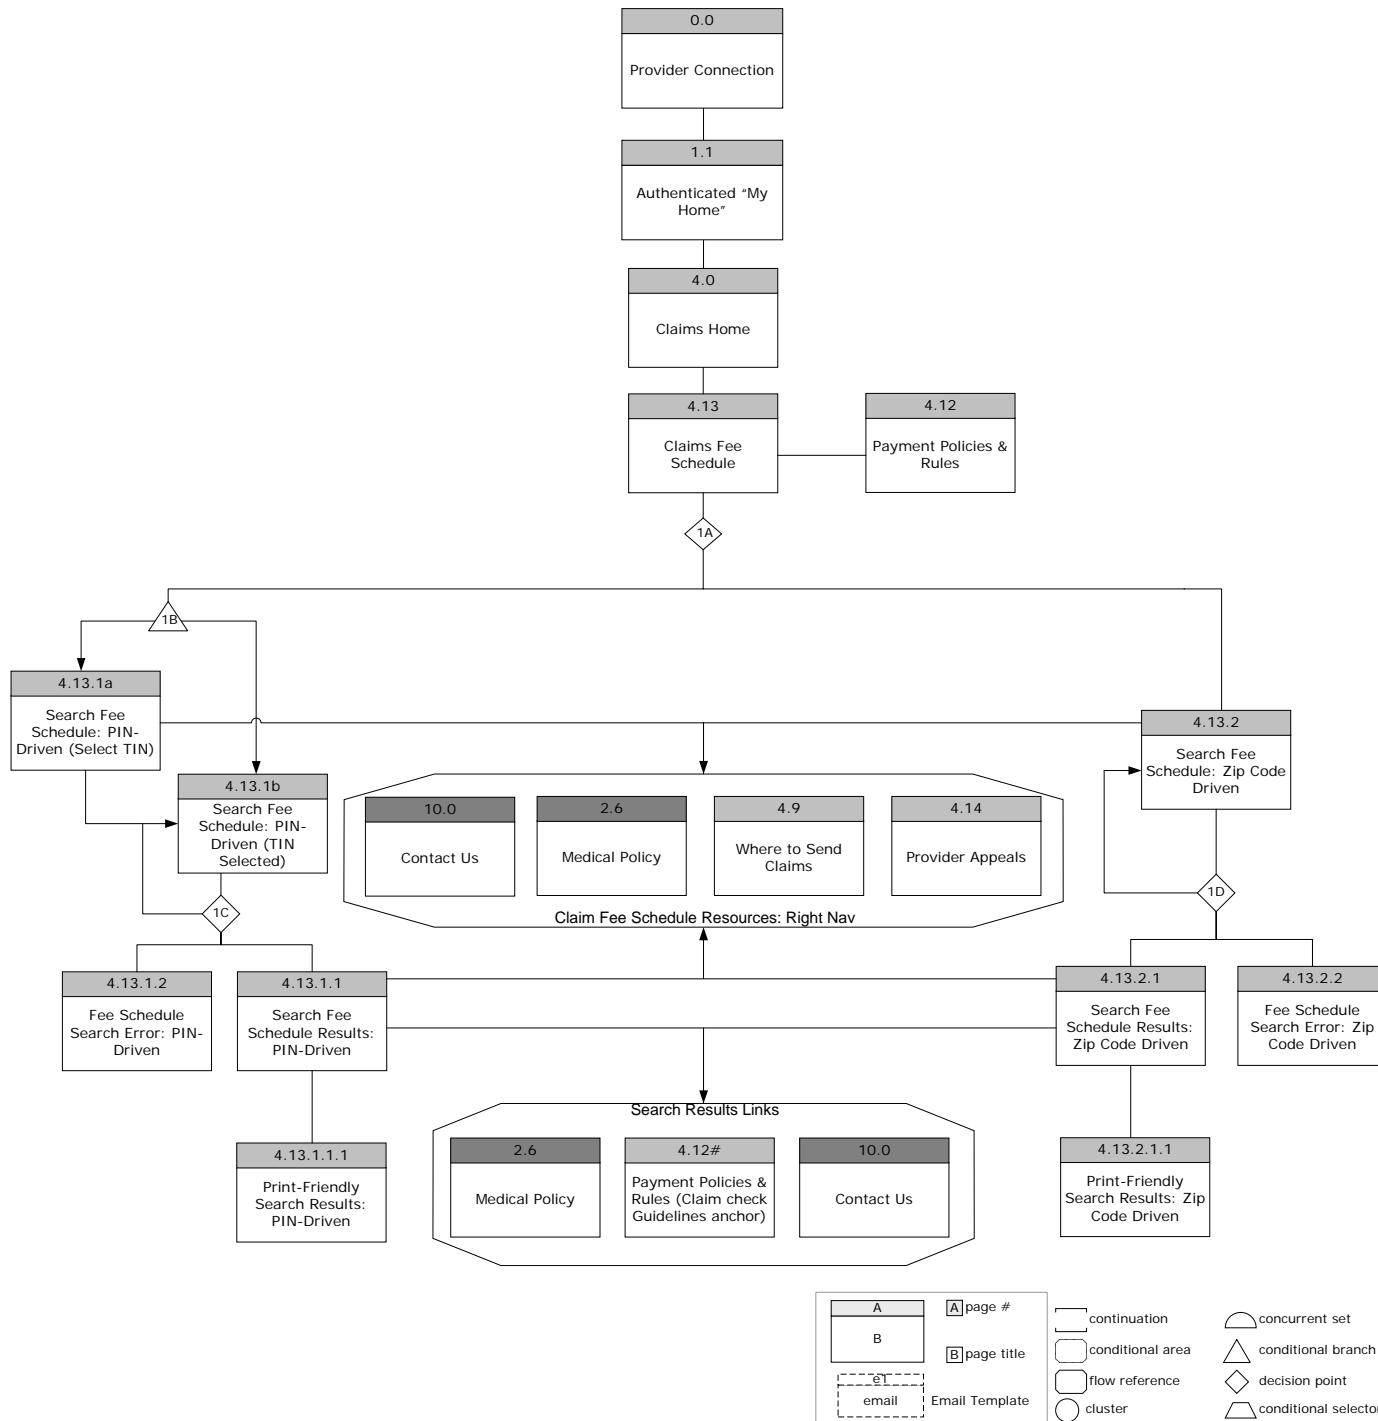

If the user does not enter zip code, provider type, or at least one procedure code, or if date is not within the next 60 days, display the error messaging on 4.13.1
 If the code entered is not valid or does not match the search criteria entered, proceed to 4.13.1.2 and display error.

Dawn Nidy	Merant 6553: Claims Fee Schedule Special Pricing	BSCA_PSS_SCR6553_v1_1.vsd	04/03/2007	4/16/2007	2 OF 13

Description:
Adding a new conditional branch, depending on whether the account has a valid PIN associated with it or not.

Specifications:

1A: Check if a valid PIN Exists for the user account
If the account that is currently logged in has at least one valid Blue Shield of California PIN associated with it, go to 4.13.1 and search the fee schedule based on a specific PIN. If the account has no valid PIN associated, go to 4.13.2 so the user may search the fee schedule by zip code.

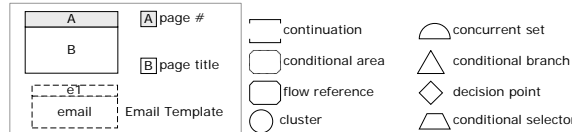

1B: Check if account has more than one TIN
If the account has more than one associated TIN, present screen 4.13.1a. The user will then select a TIN and the view will refresh to screen 4.13.1b. If the account has only one TIN, go straight to screen 4.13.1b.

1C: Validate Search Criteria
If the user does not enter TIN, date, PIN, or at least one procedure code, or if date is not within the next 60 days, display the error messaging on 4.13.1a (if PIN is selected) or 4.13.1b (if PIN is not selected). If the code entered is not valid or does not match the search criteria entered, proceed to 4.13.1.2 and display error.

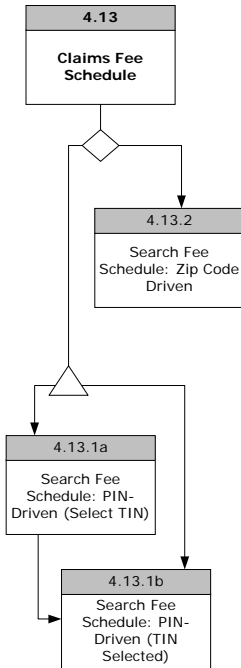

1D: Validate Search Criteria
If the user does not enter zip code, date, provider type, or at least one procedure code, or if date is not within the next 60 days, display the error messaging on 4.13.2. If the code entered is not valid or does not match the search criteria entered, proceed to 4.13.2.2 and display error.

Fee Schedule

A.1 Search the Claims Fee Schedule for Blue Shield Allowances.

In general, Blue Shield uses the Resource Based Relative Value Scale (RBRVS) as a guideline in establishing physician and healthcare professional allowances. Like CMS, Blue Shield does consider facility based pricing for some procedures in establishing allowances. Tier A are professional fees; provided in an office setting, while Tier B are professional services provided in a facility setting. Immunization allowances are based upon utilizing the Average Wholesale Price (AWP) as a guide, while injectable drugs allowances are set by utilizing a tiered Average Sales Price (ASP) reimbursement methodology that promotes the use of value-based, cost-effective therapies by paying a greater percentage above ASP for generic therapies.

Blue Shield's objective in developing physician and healthcare professional compensation rates is to closely align payments with the actual resources used by providers in rendering professional services. Therefore, allowances may vary by geographic regions. Professional allowances are generally reviewed on an annual basis with Blue Shield giving providers at least sixty days advance notice of any changes in our allowances.
